EDUCATION FOUNDATION

Raising Funds and Awareness to Support Training and Development in the US Fastener Industry

The Fastener Education Foundation is a non-profit foundation developed to help fund fastener-related education.

Our vision is to enhance public health and safety by ensuring sustainability of the fastener industry in North America by attracting, training, and educating talent.

The Future of Education in the Fastener Industry Depends on Your Support

FASTENER EDUCATION FOUNDATION

Where will your next generation of employees come from,
and how will they be trained?

FEF will support the industry through a multitude of platforms:

RECRUITING

Develop awareness of careers in the fastener industry.
Create a mind-set that the fastener industry is a good career choice.

TRAINING

Work with high schools and technical colleges to drive workforce development programs for both manufacturing and distribution talent.

Work with training centers on curriculum and core skills necessary to succeed in the fastener industry.

SUPPORT

Assist manufacturing and distribution associations engaged in talent development.

Solicit donations of equipment and talent for training centers.

EDUCATION PROGRAMS

To get new programs started or convert existing training to alternate platforms (web, mobile etc.)

Award grants to develop new training programs for fastener industry personnel.

For training initiatives, industry events, career fairs, etc.

Develop local college programs

SCHOLARSHIPS

For students to attend industry classes, vocational, university and online courses for training and skill development.

CAN'T HELP WITH A CASH DONATION?

FEF is also seeking donations of equipment, time and people to help with training, and the development of training centers.

The Fastener Education Foundation (FEF) has its own Board of Directors, who as industry professionals are highly capable and committed to creating an organization that will support fastener education throughout the country. We are dedicated to seeking out, informing, and funding individuals and entities that will continue to make the North American fastener industry thrive. Contact us for more information.
